Balance chart (lines of code per member)

How the files were counted

- LOC = actual number of lines in each file; every file belongs to exactly one member (never split).
- Left out (already prepared test setup): karma/, junit/, all *.spec.ts files, karma.conf.js, test.ts, SpringappApplication Tests, puppeteer.
- Left out (AI features): AiController, AiService, GeminiService, ai.service.ts, ai.model.ts.
- Left out (generated / non-code): package-lock.json, mvnw, HELP.md, images, .gitignore, db.json, CI files.
- Files marked "AI-touch" on member pages are normal files that also contain a small AI hook; they stay whole with their owner.

How the modules connect

A line means two members' code talks to each other - plan quick syncs between them.

Connections

|                                                                                     |                            |                                           |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
|  | Aleena + Vanshika   | login + JWT filters, route guard          |
|  | Vanshika + Visalini | routes + error page                       |
|  | Arjun + Prajan      | driver data shown to customers            |
|  | Prajan + Visalini   | driver request model, service, controller |
|  | Visalini + Aarthi   | global exception handler, ErrorLogs table |
|  | Saumya + Arjun      | feedback refers to a driver               |
|  | Saumya + Aleena     | feedback refers to a user                 |
|  | Prajan + Aleena     | request belongs to a user                 |

Dotted grey lines: Aarthi owns the shared project setup (global CSS, Angular build config, Spring Boot start-up) used by everyone.
